The image shows a screenshot of a seat selection interface. The main area is a grid of seats, with a legend at the bottom and a 'Checkout' button on the right. The legend includes:

- Location selected in the transaction (indicated by a person icon)
- Occupied seat (indicated by a grey square)
- Available seat (indicated by a blue square)
- Distance buffer (indicated by a grey square)
- Renewal (indicated by a yellow circle)
- Reservations (indicated by a red circle)

The 'Checkout' button is located at the bottom right of the interface.
